FROM THE EDITORIAL BOARD

Dear Parents and Students,

Greetings from Brookfield International School!!!

Each day, as our students step into the realm of learning, they are sculpting the foundation of their future selves. Personal development is not merely about achieving excellence in academics; it's about cultivating a mindset of continuous improvement, resilience, and adaptability. It is the key that unlocks doors to success, not just in school but in every facet of life.

Renowned author and speaker Brian Tracy aptly emphasizes, "Personal development is a major time-saver. The better you become, the less time it takes you to achieve your goals."

Therefore, let's inspire our children to embrace personal development wholeheartedly. Encourage them to reflect on their accomplishments and challenges, recognizing that each experience is a stepping stone toward becoming the best version of themselves. In the spirit of Brian Tracy's wisdom, let's empower our students to streamline their journey to success by investing in their personal growth. Whether it's mastering a new skill, fostering better relationships, or excelling in a favourite subject, the journey of personal development is uniquely theirs.

The better we become individually, the brighter our collective future will be. Let personal development be the guiding star that lights the path to success and fulfilment for each and every student.

With heartfelt gratitude and warmest regards,

Ms. PARAMJOT & Ms. PRIYANKA KAUSHAL

SPORTSPERENZA'23

"Sports teaches you character, it teaches you to play by the rules, it teaches you to know what it feels like to win and lose-it teaches you about life." - Billie Jean King.

VEGETABLE HARVESTING

We have a little garden
A garden of our own
And every day we water there
The seeds that we have sown
We love our little garden
And tend it with such care
You will not find a faded leaf
But nutritious veggies there.

It was harvesting time for our kindergarten kids as they were so excited to pull out radishes and turnips from the soil. They also collected fenugreek and spinach leaves. Our efforts at BFIS are always there to make kids eat healthy and nutritious food. To introduce our little ones to green vegetables, we prepared a little kitchen garden for them in October, where our munchkins were involved at every stage, from planting the seeds to tending to the saplings. Kids enjoy planting seeds, watching them sprout, and eventually harvesting what they have grown. Allowing children to become involved in the planning, caring, and harvesting of a garden helps the kids to develop an understanding of that which they are curious about - nature. Children also develop a sense of responsibility and pride in themselves, which can ultimately improve self-esteem.

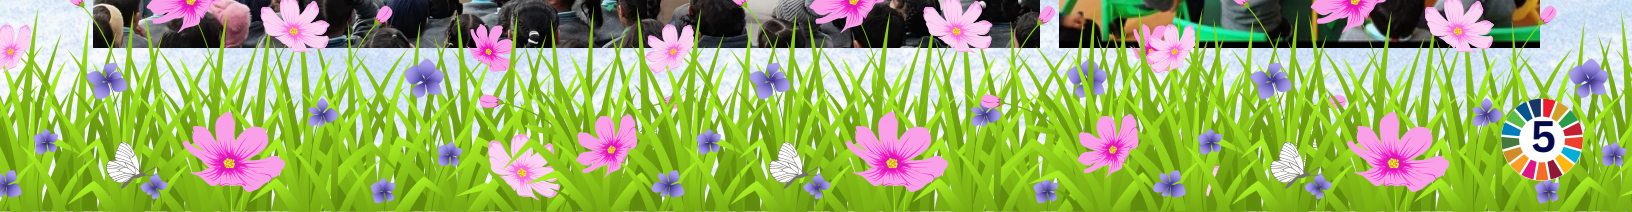

BAKING FUN

A cup of goodness
 And a cup of love
 Really are gifts
 From heaven above
 A pinch of holly
 And a pinch of pine
 Now, we know
 It's Baking time

19th of December was the baking fun day for our little ones, as one of the Christmas activities of the month. Kids enjoyed the activity, taking on the role of young pastry chefs. Baking and cooking can help young children's language development. While baking, they are exposed to new words, expanding their vocabulary and allowing them to better understand the actions that go with different words, such as sifting, combining, and whipping. Baking can also help them boost their reading skills. Reading the recipe and then completing each step can help your child better comprehend what they are reading. This can also help them learn that what they read has meaning. Baking is a great way to help improve their math skills. There is a lot of counting, measuring, and fractions involved in baking, which allows children to practice and improve their math skills. Baking also helps children improve their motor skills as well. From measuring to mixing to kneading, there are many actions in baking that allow children to practice and enhance their motor function, control, and strength.

SHOW & TELL ACTIVITY

Show and tell is highly beneficial for a child's development. Not only does it help children to develop their speech with vocabulary and articulation, but it also fosters being comfortable talking in front of their peers. Show and tell sets the stage for children to become comfortable when speaking in public. This is one reason why we have show-and-tell activities incorporated into our curriculum at BFIS. Keeping in mind the Christmas festivities, this time, the show and tell activity was themed on things related to the Christmas festival. On 20th December, our tiny tots came all prepared with candy canes, bells, gifts and a Christmas tree to show and speak about them in front of their class fellows.

"Children are not things to be moulded but are people to be unfolded." - Jess Lair.

As a kindergarten teacher, I am dedicated to creating a warm and supportive environment where our children can feel safe to explore, discover, and grow.

Our classroom is a place where curiosity is sparked, friendships blossom, and the joy of learning is celebrated every day. We explore the wonders of letters and numbers, discover the secrets of shapes, and unlock the mysteries of the world around us. Whether we're counting, singing, or playing, every moment in Kindergarten is a chance to learn and grow.

Here's to a school year filled with enthusiasm, milestones achieved, and the making of everlasting memories!!

VEER BAAL DIWAS

On 22nd December, BFIS took a meaningful stride in honouring Veer Bal Diwas, paying tribute to the brave Sahibzada Zorawar Singh ji and Sahibzada Fateh Singh ji . The day was filled with knowledge dissemination and interactive discussions, varied student expressions and movie sessions. The story of the supreme sacrifice made by Sahibzada helps young children build their character and motivates them to learn high moral values, courage, empathy and kindness. Making children aware of the history and our roots motivates the young ones to channelize their energy in the right direction and helps them to learn good values in life.

PARENTS TEACHER MEETING

Before our much-awaited winter break, a parent-teacher conference was organized on 23rd December at school to discuss the academic journey of our tiny tots. Little ones were super excited to show their artwork displayed on the class boards and the various worksheets they did in the past month to their parents. These conferences are more than just meetings; they are vital for creating a strong collaboration that guarantees an awesome and gratifying educational experience for every child. They lay the groundwork for building an educational climate where every child can succeed and grow through cooperation and open communication.
